

Gino

Even a small smile can be important: this is the idea that inspired Gino the clothes hanger. So, to make your spirits rise, its designers have created an object that is as practical as it is fun: a small man bent in a position that allows him to hang any type of garment or bag from his arms and legs. Gino is in "Cristalrek®", a technologically advanced material available in five bright colours – plus a transparent version – that make it even more likeable: blue, green, red, orange or yellow. It can be placed on a circular stand made of chromed metal, aluminum varnished or on bars of 2, 4 or 6 pieces, to satisfy both the requirements of the home and of public places. With Gino, Inday wanted to exploit the experience accumulated in the production of tables and chairs to create a range of accessories suitable for very diverse environments ranging from the home to the office and from the shop to the hotel.
