

Settecento glass-case

Two doors glass-case, bevelled glasses and interior lighting.

The elegant simplicity of the Italian 18th century, lends itself perfectly to today's need for practicality. The Settecento collection includes a glass-case with bevelled glasses and interior lighting, square or oval tables of various sizes, some extensible by mean of inserted leaves, and chairs - with and without armrests - with upholstered seats covered in fabric. Drawer bottoms and glass-case back are also covered in fabric. The tops are made of wood with inlaid stringing. The refinement of every detail animates objects with in turn conjure up memories, objects whose form and materials evoke the past trough the eyes of the present.
