

Trame

With Trame radiator, the heating element reinterprets the classic model, providing an object that is halfway between a contemporary artwork and a piece of fine craftsmanship". For Tubes creating and filling life with value means designing a setting that matches one's personality, a home that represents us, surrounded by beauty inside and out. Trame is the result of an experimentation involving a dual research purpose: innovation of shape and technology. Behind an apparently simple and immediate result, which stands out for its linearity and extremely pure styling, lies a great complexity of design and an undisputed skill of manufacturing. The industrial designer has turned a traditional steel radiant surface into a genuine fabric which baffords a dynamic and surprising effect.
